Updated October 27, 2025: French oil major TotalEnergies has noted that it has lifted the force majeure on the $20 billion Mozambique LNG project. The move comes four years after an Islamist militant attack brought construction to a halt. Notice was sent to the Mozambican government via letter on.

WASHINGTON, March 21, 2025— The World Bank Board of Directors has approved the Accelerating Sustainable & Clean Energy Access Transformation (ASCENT) in Mozambique project, aimed at accelerating sustainable energy access across Mozambique. Financed by a $100 million grant from the World Bank's.

TotalEnergies has lifted force majeure on its $20 billion (€17.1 billion) Mozambique LNG project, after four years of suspension. Located in Cabo Delgado, the project includes offshore gas development and a two-train liquefaction facility designed to produce 13 million tonnes per year. Originally.
